ABOUT ASDP

The Alliance of Supplier Diversity Professionals, Inc (ASDP) is a non-profit corporation with members throughout the United States, offering education and professional development opportunities, as well as Supplier Diversity Professional certification, for professionals within management, supply chain, supplier diversity, procurement, contracting, or similar career paths.

ASDP CERTIFICATION PROGRAM:

The growth of supplier diversity requirements from government and private industry has resulted in the need to standardize practices, comply with numerous regulations, and accurately report diversity statistics. ASDP provides a certification program to recognize, evaluate, and train professionals who work to ensure their company or organization meets its supplier diversity goals. Supplier diversity goals support business, while ensuring that traditionally disadvantaged minority and women business owners get a fair chance at competing for contract opportunities.

WHAT YOUR COLLEAGUES SAY ABOUT ASDP

"The ASDP certification demonstrates that an individual has the requisite knowledge and experience necessary to effectively manage the supplier diversity program."

-Michael Bush, Lockheed Martin

"The ASDP fills a need that has existed for decades to recognize the Supplier Diversity Professional as an equal among management positions."

-Neil Mullins, Northrop Grumman
